2019 ANNUAL REPORT

Prison Communities International Inc. (PCI) is a 501c3 non-profit organization dedicated to criminal justice issues. Established in 1999, PCI is the parent company under which Rehabilitation Through The Arts operates.

Dear Friends,

I am pleased to share the first Annual Report for Rehabilitation Through The Arts (RTA), providing an opportunity to reflect on what was truly a breakthrough year for RTA.

A number of new and expansive initiatives marked 2019:

- RTA thrived in the five prisons in which we have been operating, and we launched a sixth program at Taconic Correctional Facility, a medium-security women’s prison in Bedford Hills, NY.
- RTA as an organization has grown by leaps and bounds. We are happy to call Purchase College our home in the Center for Engagement building, the nonprofit hub on campus. We have remained committed to our engagement with the school by hosting student interns, participating in a SUNY-wide writing conference and guest lecturing in Art Management classes.

Production highlights abounded in this last year:

- Macbeth was performed at Fishkill Correctional Facility, along with that prison’s first art show.
- The musical 1776 at Sing Sing Correctional Facility was a joyful and timely event, the result of six months of preparation including learning to sing a difficult musical score.
- Determined to bring in material more culturally attuned to the prison population, we produced Father Comes Home from the Wars, a play about slavery and written by an African American woman and performed at Green Haven. (Jan 2020)
- Dutch Crown, an original piece written by an RTA alumnus was performed at Woodbourne Correctional Facility accompanied by an art exhibit, also a first. (Jan 2020)

- Families were permitted to attend productions at Green Haven and Woodbourne Correctional Facilities for the first time. The sheer joy and pride felt both by participants and families was palpable.
- Hosted by Carnegie Hall, RTA held its annual homecoming event with the entire RTA community of alumni, their families, staff, board, and teaching artists welcoming home 26 members released in 2019.
- We held our first gala, a tremendous success in increasing revenue from individual donors and bringing new people into the world of criminal justice.
- The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation provided RTA with a significant three-year grant for capacity building and to launch the Reentry Toolkit Project, a film and workshop package to help currently incarcerated people better prepare for release.

Although this report is about the highlights of 2019, I cannot help but address the COVID-19 pandemic, which is unlike anything any of us has experienced in our lifetimes. While New York State correctional facilities are closed to programs, visitors and non-essential staff, RTA is working together with the Department of Corrections and Community Supervision, and we are committed to helping our members continue engaging with the arts in meaningful ways.

Thank you to all who share our mission and commitment. Your support provides stability, guidance, and community engagement—it recognizes our common humanity and our members know that they are not forgotten.

Yours warmly,

Katherine Vockins

RTA MEMBERS

“Where the prison culture preaches every man for himself, RTA stresses that each member is needed for the group to be whole.”

ALUMNA Dunasha

Participating in RTA’s creative arts workshops and theatre productions shaped Dunasha’s time at Bedford Hills Correctional Facility and helped her grow into the person she wanted to be. “I made a mistake, and it’s a chance for me to do better. RTA was life-changing for me. It helped me create a new mindset, change my perspective and let me express myself.”

FAMILY MEMBER Hector, Son of RTA member

After attending RTA’s gala event, Hector wrote, “It gives me chills to think about how impactful RTA truly is. It really resonates with me due to my father’s situation and I’m grateful to be a part of it. I appreciate the program for not only providing my father with a new set of skills, but also for exposing me to different environments and inspiring me to want to be a part of something larger than myself.”

TEACHING ARTIST Kate

“RTA enriches my spirit and my life. As a teaching artist, I feel fortunate to be able to learn and grow here, as well as having a place to nurture skills and do some serious self-examination; I can’t ask the participants to do it if I don’t myself! It’s wonderful to be a part of this community and to find like-minded folks to collaborate with.”

DONOR Anne

“I visit someone in prison and I’ve seen firsthand what RTA’s program meant to her. Through choreography and dance, she was able to express herself and work towards a goal.

She gained confidence by developing her talent and being recognized for it. I’m honored to be part of this great organization that helps individuals make positive changes in their lives. It’s a joy to work with RTA’s creative, dedicated team of program participants, staff, alumni and board members.”
